One of the most impressive events in our rivers is the spawning return of shad to our streams. Shad migrate from the ocean into freshwaters to spawn each spring and snorkeling with hundreds of fish as they make their way upstream is awe inspiring! Join underwater naturalist Keith Williams as we explore the underwater world of Deer Creek during the shad migration. We can expect to see a variety of fish, but especially will experience being in the water with hundreds of migrating shad. Wear clothes that can get wet and shoes that will stay securely on feet in the river. Bring plenty of drinking water. We'll provide the mask and snorkel.
